

The Caiaphas Complex

MICHAEL COLLINS PIPER SAYS:

We are mad as heck and we can fight back — and win!

Over some 35 years, I've not only been writing for AFP and The Spotlight before it, but I've also written many letters to the editors of other newspapers and private letters to friends, trying to explain to them the dangers that face America. And I've been frustrated by the blank stares and sometimes angry responses I've gotten.

Now, in this new book, I've put together many of these letters (plus a lot of other unpublished articles and other material) that I think every patriot can utilize for his or her own purposes. This is carefully-documented information that you'll find helpful in your own efforts to communicate OUR ideas to the people among your family and in your community who need this information they can't get anywhere else.

I've dedicated this book to all of my fellow patriots who've written me over the years asking for my advice as a "published writer" and radio commentator as to how they can set their own ideas down in print.

And even if you don't intend to write any letters or commentaries, I think you'll enjoy (even be entertained by) much of what I've written here.

MICHAEL COLLINS PIPER
